

How to Apply

If you are a current member of the Construction Institute (CI), you may apply for Master Builder status. Recognition as a Master Builder is available to CI Members who have achieved eminence in the construction industry. The application process requires the submittal of an application, resume, and a personal statement of approximately 250 words explaining your contributions to the construction industry.

Complete and return the attached application form with your resume and personal statement to:

Construction Institute
Master Builder Review Committee
1801 Alexander Bell Drive
Reston, VA 20191 USA

Your application will be considered by the CI Board of Directors at their next quarterly meeting. You will receive written notification of the Board's action within 8-12 weeks.

If you have any questions about the application process, please contact the CI office at 703-295-6390 or ci@asce.org.

Construction Institute

American Society of Civil Engineers

The Construction Institute (CI) was created through a merger of the Construction Division, Materials Division, and Construction Standards Council of the American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) on October 1, 2000. CI is the first national organization designed to meet the needs of all individuals working within the construction industry.

CI membership provides networking opportunities with individuals from all aspects of the construction process; technical and business information on a variety of subjects including owner issues, design issues, and legal issues; efficient, practical training; recognition and prestige within the construction industry; and many other benefits.

Be a part of this growing organization. Take charge of your career and share your experience and talents with other individuals contributing to the future of the construction industry - join today!
